

RYAN BERLIN

Ryan Berlin is the research leader in housing market and economic analysis at strategic research organization Urban Futures Inc. and is a full member of the Association of Professional Economists of British Columbia. He has authored and contributed to numerous publications and reports on a variety of subjects including the sustainability of health care in Canada, the challenges and opportunities associated with our aging population, and regional, provincial, and national trends in housing and affordability.

Berlin has spoken to audiences ranging from real estate boards, development organizations, and home builder associations to municipalities and regional governments, community development organizations, and private sector businesses. Recent audiences have included the Fraser Valley Real Estate Board, the City of Richmond, the Alberta Safety Codes Council, and Kwantlen Polytechnic University.